Hongkong, Thursday Evening. The Opium market has been feverish and exground gave one mighty wave, and all was still cited to-day, induced to some extent by the Reiver having been outside since morning, and new Patna $650, old Patna $630, and Benares $515. About 3,000 chests in all are expect ed from the second side, and high rates are reported as ruling at Calcutta on the 18th ult. A fair business has been doing in Malwa at 3790. The market closes very firm with an up-ward tendency. In the other markets trade has been extremely dull to-day there being scarcely any disposition on the part of either buyers or sellers for business. The state of the weather had no doubt affected trade somewhat to-day, but the prevailing duliness is mainly due to the absence of any demand whatever for goods. The great searcity of money among all classes prohibits any speculative movement whatever, and the purchases from day to day can therefore only be for the immediate wants of consumption in this colony and those places in the vicinity that make this a base of supplies and are dependent upon it. Transactions to day embrace 450 bales Ningpo Cotton at Somo interesting statistics are furnished in regard to our commercial relations with Colifornia in the yearly summary of trade at the port of San Francisco nublished in the last advices recoived from that place. From these it appears that during the year 1866 the total value of our imports from thonec had increased $150,000 over that of any previous year, est consumers of many articles of their domestic Produce. During the year 1866 43 vessels representing a tonnage of 27,130 tons cleared for China, while 40 vessels representing tonnage of 24,062 tons arrived at San Francisco from this place. These vessels brought to us 2,008 passengers, 204,872 sacks of wheat worth 8389.984, 108,788 barrels of Flour worth 8631,759 10.252 flacks of Quicksilver worth $346,464, and other articles of produce valued at over $170,000 an average of over half a million a month. From there figures it is evident that we are from thence during the year amounted to $1,534,769 an increase as has already been stated over last year and there is no reason why during the current year the increase should not be very much in excess of even this. Beside this: Call would seem probable that San Francisco is through which all our exports to the United

a needle, driven by an ordinary hummer through | principal building is very suitable for division the breech-pin, and firing a fulminating com-pound that, with the bullet, comprised the cartridge, for the charge contained no gunpowder. This gun was in appearance very like the small-born fancy rifles for rock-shooting, &c., still to be found in gunsmiths' shops. The gun was not properly because it required a caution in its use that a soldier might neglect in the heat of an engagement, and which, neglected, might have caused injury to the person who happened to load it. Undaunted by the rejection of his first gun, with its Droyse in the next year, 1828, submitted another. This, too, was a muzzle-loader, but it embodied the principle of the now famous ignition cartridge, which in this gun was held in the chamher by a single spring, and fired by a needle pro-pelled by a spiral spring. It was while this second weapon was under trial that Dreyse had the good fortune to become personally known to the then Crown Prince of Prussia, afterwards King Frederick William IV., who took the warmest interest in the progress already made, and secured for the inventor the co. But a constant difficulty had occurred from the use of iron barrels, which would, and will, always wear loose at the breech: this was overcome in 1886, by the introduction of a barrel formed of cast steel, and then was produced the gun whose fumb is now echoing through Europe, and of which 60,000 copies were immediately ordered. These were in 1841 served out to the army tone but. were in 1841 served out to the army ; one hundred men of every battalion of the line being equipped with them. The royal decree—which, it must be remembered, came from a King who had served a good apprenticeship to military art, and who from his education and training was well able to judge the merits of a weapon justified this adoption of the needle-gan in the THE OFFICE and GODOWN situated at following remarkable words: - Tho rifled needlegun is according to our precent conviction.
